Enrollment limited to 12 students. Reserve your spot now!
Camp BizSmart 1171 Homestead Rd #275, Santa Clara

Designed for the next generation of idea makers and world shakers, this fun and educational workshop for 6th - 8th graders will improve your “tweenpreneur’s” ability to make an impact right away while speaking in public. They will learn to THRIVE—not just survive—in the real world!

This dynamic program will give students the critical tools and experience to influence an audience in a challenging business pitch or a simple school presentation. Students will be videotaped giving three presentations and get detailed, personalized feedback from our expert global trainer.

Students will learn how to:

- Organize and prepare
- Project confidence
- Control and project their voice
- Use gestures and body language for effect
- Use storytelling and imagery for a memorable impact
- Handle questions effectively
- Recognize their own strengths and areas for improvement
- Give an elevator pitch
- End with a bang, and leave with a positive impression

What students have said about Marla’s workshops:

“It helped me get over stage fright.”

– Yarina, 6th grade

“She was cool and made it fun to learn.”

– Elena, 7th grade

“I felt challenged and learned lots of great techniques.”

– Prashanth, 8th grade

Marla Zemanek, M.Ed., M.A., is well known for her lively stories, humor and ability to make training highly relevant. Marla has been a Corporate Trainer and Public Speaking Coach for over 30 years, with clients including Stanford, the Veterans Administration, Shell Oil and Golden Gate University, and she is one of the CampBizSmart Camp Directors. As a mother and former Special Education teacher, Marla deeply understands the communication skills kids need to be successful in a competitive world.
